ICUU Conference and Our Partner Church in India

As many of you know, I, along with Mike and Michelle

Liebergesell, recently attended the International Council of Unitarians and Universalists (ICUU) conference in Kathmandu, Nepal. We then spent the following week with our partner church in Mawsynjri, India.

Many of us UUs here in North America fail to realize that we have Unitarians, Universalists and Unitarian Universalists around the world. The ICUU conference is held every other year. We had over 80 participants in this year's conference who hailed from the United States, Canada, South Africa, Transylvania (Romania), U.K., Italy, Germany, Switzerland, India, Japan, France, United Arab Emirates, Philippines, Czech Republic, Rwanda, Burundi, Indonesia and the Netherlands.

Also attending were UUA President Rev. Susan Fredrick-Gray and Unitarian Universalist Partner Church Council Executive Director Rev. Roger Bertschausen. (They now know UUMAN!!!)

The theme of the conference was "The Heart of Unitarianism and Unitarian Universalism." A typical day in the 3 ½ day conference included an internationally-flavored morning worship, a theme speaker, a small group workshop, a one-to-one workshop, a covenant group session and an evening panel discussion. Although hard to describe, all in all, I found it to be among the most rewarding conferences I had attended in several years. It had diversity, theological depth and room for sharing of ideas of all participants. Most conferences seem to tip one way or another and result in information overload in some form. This conference clearly avoided that and at no time did I ever feel like I wanted to skip out on any given session.

The 2020 ICUU conference will be held in Montreal, Canada (in the summer ☐).

After the conference we traveled to Mawsynjri, India (in the Khasi Hills of the state of Meghalaya) to visit our partner church and to dedicate the bell tower that we provided the funds to build.

Barri Mukhim, her husband Rev. Nangroi Suting and Rev. Darihun Khriam have a strong vision for the Mawsynjri community where most of the villagers are farmers. In addition to the Mawsynjri congregation itself, they are running a K-12 school, an orphanage (Children's Village), a local health care facility and an organic farm.

Mawsynjri villagers face several daunting obstacles as they seek to move into the future. Often, because both parents must work the fields each day, some of the older children must leave school to care and cook for their younger siblings. Changing laws in India have forced the community to build an additional structure at the Children's Village which will allow them to separate male from female orphans. The lack of available science teachers in the secondary school (levels 11-12) have resulted in some students having to move to Shillong (approximately 2 hours away) to further their study in these subjects. (In Shillong, extra costs are necessary to house and board such students.)

I came away from the trip impressed the clarity of the community's vision, the warmth, kindness and hospitality of the people, and with the beauty of their night sky!

It would be wonderful to have more UUMAN members visit our partners in the Khasi Hills. I would guarantee it to be a life-changing event!

Take Care,

Dave

Club SciKidz

In early January, Club SciKidz, a STEM camp, hosted holiday camp at UUMAN. They had 15 kids, some of them UUMAN's own (Raffaella and Joel Shanahan, Dillon Callen), building robots, doing science experiments, and just having a lot of fun!

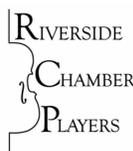

Given that we had only solidified this partnership in late November/early December, we thought 15 was a pretty good turnout, since there was limited time to advertise. This summer, UUMAN will be hosting Club SciKidz for the last 3 weeks of July. Camp runs from 9 a.m. - 4 p.m., but they also have pre-and post-camp drop off/pick up options. They will offer 20 different programs for kids ranging from Pre-K to 9th grade. I've already signed Raffaella and Joel up for the Gastro Mobile Lab (food truck) camp, where they will learn how to run a food truck business, including the chemistry behind recipes, sanitation/public health, and customer service. Families can order from the food truck on the last day of camp! The more kids register for camp, the more UUMAN benefits. Please register via the link below, and don't forget to share with your neighbors and via your social networks!

Written in 1987, Schoenfield's composition was commissioned by the St. Paul Chamber Orchestra and inspired by Schoenfeld's turn as house pianist at Murray's steakhouse in Minneapolis.

Concert will be immediately followed by a "meet the musicians" wine and cheese reception included with admission.

An Original Play “About Clarence”

by Carol Welter

This fast-paced farce has elements of love, magic and intrigue that will keep you guessing while tapping your feet and snapping your fingers to music, including the rhythms of tribal dancing. It's the story of a woman eager to win the love and respect of her daughter after losing it through years of struggle with alcoholism. It's about a man who just wants to do right by his woman. And it's about a young artist who seeks love and acceptance through the discovery of his talent. Finally, it's About Clarence. Who is the mysterious Clarence and what does he want?

Find out in The Underground Theatre at the Unitarian Universalist Congregation of Atlanta March 23 and 24 at 7:30 PM and in a Sunday matinee March 25 at 3 PM. Located at 1911 Cliff Valley Way, NE, Atlanta 30329. Adjacent parking lot: 1597 Interstate-85 Access Rd-N, Please note: play includes adult situations.
